

details

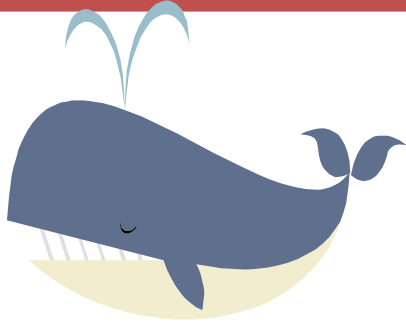

disappoint

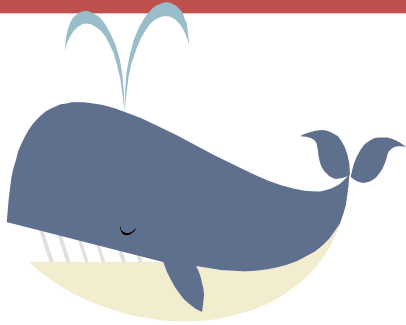

forcibly

information

oceans

stroke

small bits of information

to make someone
sad because something
expected did not happen

strongly; by force

facts about a
person, place, or thing

large bodies of
salt water where whales
and other animals live

to rub

something gently